- Jun 15 1864 – Civil War: Battle of Petersburg - Ulysses S. Grant’s Army of the Potomac and Robert E. Lee’s Army of Northern Virginia collide for the last time as the first wave of Union troops attacks Petersburg, a vital Southern rail center 23 miles south of the Confederate capital of Richmond, Virginia. The two massive armies would not become disentangled until April 9, 1865, when Lee surrendered and his men went home.
- Jun 15 1864 – Arlington National Cemetery is established when 200 acres (0.81 km²) around Arlington Mansion (formerly owned by Confederate General Robert E. Lee) are officially set aside as a military cemetery by U.S. Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton.
- Jun 15 1898 – Spanish American War: U.S. Marines attack Spanish off Guantánamo Cuba.
- Jun 15 1913 - Philippine American War: The 4 day Battle of Bud Bagsak ends with U.S. Brigadier General John "Black Jack" J. Pershing troops completely annihilating the Moro resistance fighters armed mostly with kris (dagger having a wavy double-edged blade), barongs (long, broad, leaf-shaped knives), spears, and few guns.
- Jun 15 1940 - World War II: The 10 day Operation Ariel begins - Allied troops start to evacuate France, following Germany's takeover of Paris and most of the nation.
- Jun 15 1943– WW2: Paul Blobel, an SS colonel, is given the assignment of coordinating the destruction of the evidence of the grossest of Nazi atrocities, the systematic extermination of European Jews. Blobel certainly had some of that blood on his hands himself, as he was in charge of SS killing squads in German-occupied areas of Russia. He now drew together another kind of squad, “Special Commando Group 1,005,” dedicated to this destruction of human evidence. Blobel began with “death pits” near Lvov, in Poland, and forced hundreds of Jewish slave laborers from the nearby concentration camp to dig up the corpses and burn them—but not before extracting the gold from the teeth of the victims.
- Jun 15 1944 – WW2: Battle of Saipan: The United States invade Japanese–occupied Saipan. The battle lasts 24 days with an ultimate U.S. victory.

- Jun 15 1965 – Vietnam: U.S. planes bomb targets in North Vietnam, but refrain from bombing Hanoi and the Soviet missile sites that surround the city. On June 17, two U.S. Navy jets downed two communist MiGs, and destroyed another enemy aircraft three days later. U.S. planes also dropped almost 3 million leaflets urging the North Vietnamese to get their leaders to end the war.
